RR Sniper Suspect Believed Wounded

Exchange of Gunfire
Occurs near Venice;
RR Agent is Grazed

A railroad detective who was grazed on the left arm by a bullet believes he wounded one of two sniper suspects in an exchange of gunfire about 4 a.m. Sunday in the Nickel Plate Railroad yards near Venice.

Lt. Eugene Moore of the Terminal Railroad Association St. Louis office, who had been assigned to search for snipers, told county deputies he was hiding in weeds at the yards when he saw two men walk out of a ditch near a set of tracks.

When he yelled, one of the men fired two shots at him and a slug pierced the agent's jacket and caused a welt on his arm. As Lt. Moore returned the fire, he saw one of the pair fall down and then get up and run to a passing freight train. Both sniper suspects jumped onto the train.

Deputies learned the train was headed toward East St. Louis, and later were informed a man had been admitted at St. Mary's Hospital there with a gunshot wound to his thigh. The man informed deputies he had been wounded in East St. Louis.

Seek Court Order
Assistant Chief Deputy Sheriff Dennis Nicholas told the press the sheriff's office is conferring with State's Atty. Leon Scroggins to determine if a court order can be obtained to have the slug removed from the suspect's leg for a ballistics test.

"We believe we have the man, but he has refused to have the bullet removed," Nicholas said. He added that several other instances of sniping have been reported by railroad workers at the yards.

The initial report Sunday was received at 2 a.m. by Venice police, who notified county authorities.

Barry Dodd, a switch tender, told authorities that he heard four or five shots about 2 a.m. and they sounded as if they had been fired from a .22 caliber rifle by snipers on the Wiggins Highline, the trestle that connects onto the McKinley Bridge.

Deputies assigned to the yards searched the area and the highline, but were unable to locate anyone. The TRRA office in St. Louis also assigned men to the area, and Lt. Moore was in the area where the sniping had been reported.

Break Windows, Chased
Three youngsters were seen throwing rocks through a stack of windows leaning against the rear of Namooki school, it was reported at 9:15 p.m.

They were chased by a neighbor but were lost in the area of Primrose and Amos avenues.

Charge GC Woman With Conspiracy To Kill Husband

Mrs. Betty Ann Mayfield, 37, of Granite City, was free today on a $10,000 appearance bond following her arrest by St. Louis county police on a charge of conspiring to murder her husband, Charles W. Mayfield, 48, an employee of Granite City Steel Co.

Mrs. Mayfield was arrested Friday night after she allegedly had asked a St. Louis convict to kill her husband for $1000 and her husband's outboard motor, and later made the same offer to a St. Louis county detective who posed as a killer.

Police at Clayton said Mrs. Mayfield gave her address as 2401 Madison avenue, Granite City, but a check of that address today showed it is occupied by another family. Bond posted by Mrs. Mayfield today night is returnable Sept. 11 in the court of St. Louis County Magistrate Leslie T. Lewis.

Turned Off Down

According to police Mrs. Mayfield had been in contact for nearly two months with an unidentified ex-convict whom she asked to kill her husband, but who turned down the offer because he was "too hot." She furnished the ex-convict with a .38-caliber revolver and a box of cartridges which, the ex-convict told police, the woman

Sister Mary Thomas, administrator, said the special invitation to dignitaries went out over the weekend, and while there have been no acceptances to date, the officials here of the hospital are hopeful President Johnson and the others will attend the 11 a.m. ceremony.

"Since a portion of the expansion program is being financed with federal funds, we decided we should invite the top officials," the administrator commented.

A general invitation to the

With exception of the race for clerk of the circuit court, Republican challengers for all county offices made strong showings in Saturday's "straw vote," including a victory in the recorder of deeds contest over Charles "Bill" Burns, (R), who tallied 471 votes against 462 for James F. Chapman, (D).

Results for county offices showed: clerk of the circuit court—Willard V. Portell, (D), 564; David E. A total of 1397 ballots was cast in the mock contest, an additional 50 to 60 ballots which had to be discarded due to errors, according to David Partney, Jaycee election chairman.

Results showed that Wallace compiled a total of 597 votes; Nixon—408; and Humphrey—389.

Madison Parents Call Meeting of Teachers, Board

Seek to End Strike
At Confab Tonight as Schools Remain Closed

Parents of children in the Madison school district have called a meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the Bethel A.M.E. Church, 1028 Market street, Venice, in an attempt to settle contractual differences between the board of education and the Madison Federation of Teachers.

Meanwhile, schools remained closed today as the strike by about 95 teachers entered its second week.

Union representatives said they would attend the session tonight. John Belcoff, acting board president, said he had not been informed of the session.

In other efforts to reopen the schools, some parents established picket lines Friday and Saturday for immediate negotiations. The school board yesterday submitted another proposal to the teachers, but it was not presented for a vote at a union meeting this morning.

The new proposal contained no change in salary offers but listed other terms previously discussed by both sides, according to Raymond Dragg, superintendent of schools.

Dimmed at Method
"We were dismayed at the board's method of offering what they alleged to be proposals for bargaining," Bernard Long, union president, commented today.

"We as a union still maintain that proposals and counter-proposals exchanged in good faith should be offered at the bargaining table."

"Last Thursday, we sent a telegram to the board pleading for a negotiating session," Long continued. "Our attorney contacted their attorney by phone the same day."

"We received no answer to the request. Instead, the board met in private and arbitrarily constructed a contract. They sent it as a mandate for teachers to accept or reject."

"Because this method of dictating to the board thinks the teachers want is so contrary to the normally accepted methods of bargaining, their mandate was not brought up for a vote."

Injunction suits against the teachers to force their return to the classrooms had not been filed by this morning, John Gitchoff, school attorney, announced last Thursday that the board had instructed him to file the suits and that he hoped the papers would be ready today.

John Holt, one of the parents and a local steelworker, told the Press-Record. "We want our children back in school on Tuesday."

"We are not trying to take sides. We want to see that what we parents are concerned and want our children back in school."

"The important thing is the children. We want to make sure that both parties are trying to settle this issue. Ultimately, we will find out what is causing this thing."

The change included $10 in quarters, $1.75 in nickels, $5 in dimes, $17 in Kennedy half dollars and two old pennies.

Wanda Williams, 2432 (r) Dewey avenue, reported to police Monday morning that a portable television set was missing from her home. She discovered the glass in the rear door had been broken to gain entrance.

Stereo Set Worth $180 was stolen from the home of Theodore Zeller, 2924 Faith avenue, it was reported Sunday night. Entrance was gained by forcing a rear door.

Burglars ripped the screen off a rear window to enter the home of Virginia Savage, 2437 (r) Missouri avenue, it was reported to police Sunday evening. Taken were $8, a watch, a cigarette lighter and two packs of cigarettes.

The theft occurred between 7 and 11:30 p.m.

Area Rainfall 5.25 Inches Below Normal for Year

Rainfall in the Quad-Cities during August was measured at a mere 1.55-inch on the gauge maintained by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers at the Chain of Rocks canal locks, but area residents with gauges recorded spotty downpours of up to 2 1/2 inches in a matter of an hour or less.

The locks gauge recorded precipitation on eight days, with the heaviest rains as 3.2 inch on Aug. 9 and 3.1 inch on Aug. 10. Other readings were .27 inch on Aug. 1, .25 inch on Aug. 3, .01 inch Aug. 10, .07 inch on Aug. 18 and .15 inch on Aug. 31.

Stiffer Ill. Fines For Burning Flags And Draft Cards

Bills setting penalties for the willful mutilation or destruction of draft cards, and increasing the penalties for publicly mutilating, defacing, defiling or trampling the American or State flags have been signed into law by Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro.

Speaker of the House of Representatives Ralph T. Smith (R-Alton) from the 55th District, who supported and voted for the measure said the measures were introduced to conform with federal legislation.

Smith said that the penalties for a violation of the mutilation or destruction of a draft-card issued under the "Federal Military Selective Service Act of 1967" provide for a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment in the penitentiary for not more than five years, or both. Penalties for mutilating the American or State flags provide a $1000 to $5000 fine or one to five years in a penitentiary or both (presently the law provides for a fine of from $10 to $100 or imprisonment up to 30 days or both) for a violation. Both measures carry emergency clauses and became law upon receiving the governor's signature.

Honeymoon Ends; GC Police, Firemen Clarify Status of Longevity Pay

High living by a pair of self-confessed Baltimore bank robbers, which included a trip to the Bahamas, a wedding and purchase of an expensive automobile and clothing, came to a sudden halt last week with their arrest at Parkway Manor Motel in St. Louis by police, who found $13,000 in robbery loot guarded by a pet jaguar.

Sought on warrants for the $44,557 holdup of a branch of the First National Bank of Baltimore on July 30, the pair was identified by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as John A. Rutkowski, 21, of Johnston, R.I., and Charles W. Seemlein, 19, of Baltimore.

Taken into custody with the two men were Rutkowski's bride of five days, the former Miss Jean Dorothy Lionberger of Madison, and Miss Carol Esleman, 19, of Baltimore.

The police department spokesman said Friday that Rutkowski, Seemlein and Miss Esleman were being held pending arrival of a U. S. Marshal and that Mrs. Rutkowski was released after questioning. She plans to return to work as a chemist for a St. Louis firm next week. She lives in St. Louis and could not be reached for comment.

Rutkowski and the former Miss Lionberger were married Saturday, Aug. 24, at the East St. Louis First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Frank Christ, pastor of the Madison United Presbyterian Church, officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

The couple met in Miami, Fla., where the robbers, accompanied by Miss Esleman, had fled in a chartered plane after abandoning the stolen car used in the bank holdup. Another plane was chartered by the three for a trip to the Bahamas and back again to Miami.

The holdup men told FBI agents and St. Louis police that most of the $44,000 loot was spent at hotels, for a $7300 Cadillac purchased in Florida, and for expensive clothing. In addition, they bought the jaguar at a St. Louis county pet shop for $450.

The animal was discovered by police in a closet at the motel, guarding two attache cases containing part of the stolen money. It was removed to the St. Louis Humane Society shelter, where employees report its disposition is playful and friendly.

When apprehended by police officers, the foursome was about to leave the motel in a new automobile. The men were unarmed and offered no resistance. After they were released, they counted their movements following the holdup for the arresting officers.

It was learned that the robbers had stayed in the Quad-City area for two or three days prior to the wedding. The newly-weds were believed to be leaving the area on a honeymoon.

Clarification of the procedure for applying longevity pay to the base salaries was obtained Thursday night by officials of the Granite City police and firemen's unions who attended the recessed meeting of the city council.

Alan LeMaster, president of the police union, said he and Harry Hinton, president of the firefighters union, had received the interpretation from Mayor Partney and Alderman Boyd that the $55 across-the-board increases granted the previous Monday night were to include the longevity, and that police and firemen felt that procedure would be a step backward.

The 14 council members present for the recessed session were unable to agree on the procedure on the council floor and went into a 10-minute caucus during which they reached the decision that since the longevity benefit granted to police and firemen two years ago still was applicable, the $55 increase would be on the base pay with longevity of $95 to 7% added to the new base figures.

$3800 Added Cost
 The added cost was set at $3800 above the $90,000 budgeted for increases.

The motion for adding longevity to the new base pay was made by Alderman Partney and was adopted unanimously. Later in the meeting, the council adopted an ordinance listing the new base pay rates. As it was submitted, a proposal for the new base pay was made by Alderman Partney to increase the base salary of Assistant Police Chief George Teller by another $5 to have a differential for the salaries of the assistant chief and chief of detectives.

The new base pay for the assistant chief will be $700, while that of Chief of Detectives Joseph Kastiel will be $685. Whitmer pointed out the recommendation for the different scales had been submitted in line with policies of the Illinois moon trip to Utah and then to reside in Santa Barbara, Cal. when they left the reception held in Madison after the ceremony.

Students at Venice-Lincoln Technical School Relate Profitable Experiences in Learning

By VALERIE EVENDEN

"Without the word man, you are dead," the young high school dropout said earnestly.

An educator, guidance counselor or other professional person may use less florid language, substituting the idiom—the word—with education, knowledge and job skills.

The meaning, however, would be no clearer than the expression used by the Venice-Lincoln student who has found from personal experience—without training and education you are unemployable and therefore "dead."

The staff of the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center hopes to correct this condition by offering a second chance to those whose educational opportunities have been limited or curtailed, whether by their own choosing or through unavoidable circumstances.

Enrollees at the state-supported vocational school represent all ages, size, and educational levels. They are black and white, and almost equally divided between men and women.

Aids the Needy

Most are from poverty-stricken areas, others live in reduced circumstances through no fault of their own. Many are referred to the center for training by state agencies.

Training at the center is not restricted to the impoverished. Classes are open of more affluent residents at a monthly fee of $5. However, prospective students able to pay their own way are accepted only when class quotas are not filled with referrals students.

Range of Courses

Five major areas of instruction are available at the center, so far—Basic Education, General Education Development, Home Mechanics, Business Education and Personal and Family Services.

Vocational and academic courses to be added shortly, include blueprint reading, drafting, machine shop, mechanical drawing, auto mechanics, body repair, graphic arts, power sewing, personal service career, welding and preparation for state and federal civil service examinations.

Additionally, a child care program through which 82 preschool youngsters, between the ages of three and five, is an integral part of the center's overall operation.

Experienced Staff

A total of 11 teachers, a guidance counselor and the administrative head, Dunne Rankin, currently are employed at the center and additional staff members will be hired with the start of new programs.

Venice Supt. of Schools John O. Pies, recently noted that negotiations are underway with state officials to establish a Public Aid office at the school.

Counseling of students and job placement program also are available at the center, he said.

The present teaching staff includes such professionals as Miss Darlene Davlin, a registered nurse and former nurse at the U. S. Embassy in Burma. She holds a master's degree in guidance from Southern Illinois University, has experience in public health nursing and is in charge of the experimental "personal services" course.

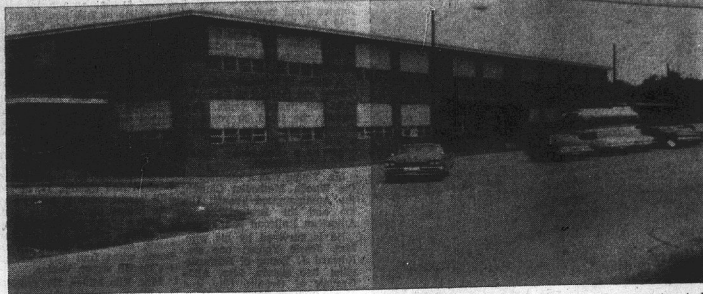

The course includes classes in child care, food preparation and care of invalids, through which students are trained for work in private homes where specialized care is needed.

Heading the Home Mechanics and Repair program is James Russell, who joined the center staff from the Vincennes, Ind., Junior College, where he has been working with students at a monthly fee of $5. Previously, he taught six years in a high school vocational department.

Head Start Program

One of the more hectic assignments is being undertaken by Mrs. Carol Murphy of Collinsville, who supervises the pilot year-around "Project Head Start" program. Approximately 50 youngsters are expected in the pre-school program within the next two weeks. All are children of trainees at the center.

Don Davinroy, a former Venice high school student, is directing business education courses, assisted by two other teachers, and Mrs. Bridget Patricia Skeen of Rahatno, a registered nurse who holds a master's degree in guidance and has been employed for three years in a Manpower Development Training program for psychiatric aides conducted at Alton State Hospital and Alton senior high school, is guidance counselor at the center.

Presently, classes begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 3:15 p.m. However, Rankin indicated last week the hours may be shortened to permit parents of school-age youngsters to arrive home before the children.

Cafeteria to Open

Starting Oct. 1, cafeteria service will be available and, in preparation, large freezers, stoves and other cooking equipment is being delivered almost daily to the former Lincoln grade school building.

A question frequently posed to those connected with the center asks who benefits most from establishment of the newest state-supported vocational school.

It appears many will benefit from the center, including the Illinois taxpayer who supports those on General Assistance and Aid to Dependent Children—the students who desire a better life and want to upgrade themselves and their families—and the entire state metropolitan area, which statistically shows a greater degree of unemployable adults receiving state aid than any other area in Illinois.

The goals and ambitions of the students vary, but all who talked with the reporter evidenced a keen insight into future beneficial aspects of the program.

Like Daytime Classes

A pleasant-looking blonde girl who smiles frequently as she talks, despite a series of misfortunes that would have left bitterness stamped upon other faces, said she enjoys attending the school. "Especially now that we are going in the daytime."

Shirley Hogan, 221 Kerr street, Venice, commented: "I have learned a lot more since we switched to daytime hours. I am attending school two evenings each week the way I first started the GED course last winter. I want to learn and I attend class almost every day."

The 22-year-old student left Venice high school in her junior year and has returned to study for a high school equivalency diploma at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center.

"After leaving school I couldn't get a job, so I enrolled in the Youth Corps (an Economic Opportunity program) funded by the federal government and they assigned me to the Granite City Army Depot," the young woman said.

At the military installation, Shirley worked as a packer in one of the Depot's large warehouses—crating, packing and sorting tools and equipment for shipment. She stayed at the Depot until she became 21, the maximum age for persons employed through the Youth Corps program.

Talked to Caseworker

"Afterwards, I remained at home and cared for my grandmother who was ill at the time. Then a caseworker talked to me about continuing my education. It sounded like a good idea, so here I am," she added.

Shirley aspires to become a beautician and hopes to attend beauty school after she completes the General Education Development course at the Venice-Lincoln Center. She doesn't believe it is necessary to have a high school diploma or its equivalent to be accepted as a beauty operator trainee, but she wants the certificate anyway—it is a matter of pride and achievement.

Shirley is aware that a considerable amount of study will be required, followed with successful completion of a mandatory state board examination before she can obtain a beauty operator's license in Illinois.

She also knows it costs money to enroll in a beauty college, but she was encouraged to hear the story of Miltha Williams, who went on from the Venice school's GED program to secure a certificate as a registered x-ray technologist against even greater odds.

The young Venice woman has a major incentive in her life which propels her forward to seek a better education and with it the ability to earn a decent living. The incentive is a 12-month-old son, Michael, Shirley resides at home and her mother looks after the younger sister's well-being while his young mother attend school.

She receives financial assistance through Aid to Dependent Children—an allotment of about $89 per month, but she wants to take care of the boy herself and, hopefully, her current studies and ambitions will afford her this chance.

Man, 55, Has Hopes

Cleveland McIntyre may be 35 years old, but he appears more anxious to get that elusive eighth grade certificate than most grade school youngsters.

He has several excellent reasons for enrolling in the Basic Education course at the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center—primarily the expectation of a job after he receives his diploma and a family of nine children—the oldest one preparing to start college on Sept. 23.

An energetic appearing individual, Cleveland lives at 152 North 6th street, Venice, "just a step or two away from the new vocational center." He has been unemployed the past two years, ever since his job "faded away" when Swift Packing Co. closed its East St. Louis plant.

His age and lack of education were unsurmountable strikes against the 53-year-old Negro finding other work—at least a job by which he could support his family of growing school-age youngsters.

Cleveland has resided in the Quad-Cities for more than 20 years. He came here from the Atlanta, Ga., area, where, he points out—educational opportunities were not so plentiful 40 years ago.

Attended Evening Classes

He attended evening classes at Dunbar school in Madison when they were conducted in the fall of 1966, and three months ago he decided to resume the Basic Education course when instruction became available at the Venice-Lincoln center.

Noticeably proud of the achievements of his oldest son, George, who was graduated in June from Venice high school where he was one of the Venice Red Devils top basketball players, Cleveland commented: "I'm not sure how they did it, but the school people helped George enroll at the Mid-State junior college in Peoria, Ill."

"They are going to pay part of the cost and the college gave George some kind of scholarship to play basketball. He had pretty good grades in high school and I hope he will do well at college," the father said.

George, 10, is the oldest of nine children. The youngest child is four years old and the only one not attending the Venice school.

Cleveland hopes to take two Basic Education test in two or three months. If he fails to pass the test a second time he will get another opportunity a month or so later.

After he receives his diploma, the Venice man intends to apply for work at the Granite City Army Depot. "I've been told I can get my eighth grade certificate. So things look better for the future," he observed.

Office Machine to Venice

Anxiously awaiting installation of the new office machines at the Venice-Lincoln vocational center, Mrs. Ruth Ann Strom, who resides at 403 Kirkpatrick Homes, commented: "I can't wait to get going on the electric typewriters, adding and calculating machines which we'll be using in the Venice Education course."

The Granite City woman enrolled at the center on June 17 and attends daily classes in all phases of business training. She is a high school graduate and has taken previous courses in business education, but requires further training, specifically on the newer-type machines, in order to secure employment in this field.

Intensely interested in all aspects of business training, especially the bookkeeping course taught at the center, Mrs. Strom also displayed special attentiveness to the problem of learning to master intricate office machines.

The latest equipment used in bookkeeping and related work recently were delivered to the school and presently are being installed, she explained.

"Through the business education course, we receive instruction in typing, shorthand, business English and mathematics, office practices and similar training," Mrs. Strom said. "I want to get finished as quickly as possible and then I may take a Civil Service test to get a job with the government."

Mrs. Strom is a divorcee and the mother of four young children—Patricia, eight, Donna, six, Debra, four-and-a-half, and Lisa, two years. She receives financial help through Aid to Dependent Children, but knows she can improve her family's living conditions if she can obtain employment as a bookkeeper when her studies are complete.

Waitress, Food-Checker

Initially, she worked as a food checker at a local supermarket, but found the income insufficient to provide the necessary things for her growing daughters.

"I asked my caseworker about educational prospects and she referred me to the Venice-Lincoln center," Mrs. Strom explained.

While the young mother attends daily classes at the vocational school, her youngest child will be cared for by a relative. "Debra will qualify for the center's new child care program and she is looking forward to coming with me each day and being part of the pre-school program," Mrs. Strom said.

Both mother and daughter will be transported to the Venice-Lincoln center by bus, which picks up the adult students each morning at the Kirkpatrick Homes and returns them to the housing project after school hours.

"I feel optimistic about the future and intend to study hard and complete the schooling just as soon as I can. I think the entire program is excellent and means a lot to me. I take advantage of the opportunities offered by the center," she commented.

Mother of Servicemen

"I don't know you went to school, Mom," one of Mrs. Ethel Johnson's three servicemen sons wrote her from Vietnam.

"Yes, the boys were surprised when they learned I had gone back to school at my age. I guess it sounded funny to them, but here I am."

The speaker was Mrs. Ethel Johnson, a widow the past seven years and mother of seven children, including three in the U. S. Armed Forces. Mrs. Johnson, who lives in the Household Mechanics and Repairs course at the Venice-Lincoln Center, Mrs. Johnson, 50, lives in the Thomas-Terry Apartments at Brooklyn, not too far from the vocational center where she was among the first group of adults to enroll last Nov. 28. She attended evening classes at first, but prefers the day sessions now conducted at the center.

Expressing surprise that the soft-spoken woman chose to enroll in a household repairs class, the reporter learned from Mrs. Johnson that years of laborious work has resulted in an ability to repair a toaster or an iron, to cut glass and fit it in a window, to wire electrical appliances, repair plumbing, unclog sinks and clear traps.

Cuts, Threads Pipe

"I've even learned how to cut and thread pipes. When you have a home to look after and little money to do it with, it is very handy to know how to do small repair jobs yourself," Mrs. Johnson commented.

Four of her children are still at home and three are school-age. The three older boys completed high school and enlisted in the service. "They've been all over the world, but they always come home again," she said.

Specialist Five Robert Lee Johnson, 28, is an eight-year Army veteran, currently stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C. "He was in France for three years, Korea for 13 months and was sent over to the Dominican Republic when we had that trouble and stayed over there almost a year," the mother said, adding the soldier was married last month.

"Willie Alfred is 25 and a staff sergeant. He joined the Regular Army after graduating from Lovejoy high school in 1961. He was with the infantry in Vietnam for 12 months, but right now is stationed in Korea and plays in the Eighth Army Band," his mother stated proudly.

The third son, S. N. Scott Johnson Jr., is 22 years old and a member of the U. S. Navy the past four years. At the present time he is in California, Mrs. Johnson said, where he returned from Vietnam duty on June 15. "He's the one that wrote to me asking about going to school," she explained.

Helps Many Ways

Although the household repairs course primarily is designed to teach the low-income householder how to care for his property and save money by do-it-yourself methods, the classes have benefited several students in other ways, it was learned from the center administrator.

Through the course, one young woman discovered she possessed a high degree of manual dexterity and has since left the school and secured employment in a factory where she repairs and wires small electrical appliances, Rankin said.

He noted that the student had not previously been employed and was receiving General Assistance before finding her present job.

Mrs. Johnson doesn't think her studies will lead to employment. However, she sincerely believes the knowledge she is acquiring will make life more comfortable for her family and she appears to enjoy learning new approaches to the minor problems which a householder encounters daily around the home, one of the instructors noted.

Girl Injured in Auto

A suit for a total of $25,000 was filed last week in Madison County circuit court at Edwardsville for Lois McCrea, a minor, and her mother, Mrs. Ruby McCrea, against Karen McElroy and Gary Carter.

According to the complaint, the McCrea girl was riding in an auto operated by one of the defendants on Sept. 16, 1966, on the Chain of Rocks canal road north of the locks where the car left the road and turned over, causing serious injuries to the girl. She seeks $20,000. Her mother is seeking $5000 to cover medical expenses. Carelessness was charged.

Truck Bids Sought

Bids are to be opened Sept. 24 by Nameoki township on a not over 1968 dump truck, for which specifications are available at the town hall.

Grid Champion Braves Can't Beat 1967 Record

The Coolidge junior high school Braves football team has 73 boys out for its ninth grade team, currently preparing for its first Madison County Conference game against the new Grigsby school at 4 p.m. Sept. 19 at the Granite City high school field.

The Braves, coming from an undefeated, untied season last year, have been the conference champions for the past eight seasons.

Coach John Tonoff reports that his "green squad" is working now on fundamentals, with little body contact. "We want to be sure the boys are in good shape and know what they are doing before we turn them loose on one another," he explained.

"Our practices consist of learning the proper stances, tackling the sled, blocking the sled and fumble drills. Mostly, though, we are doing exercises to get the players into shape. We'll probably start live tackling this week."

The schedule follows:
Sept. 19 Grigsby here, 4 p.m.
Sept. 26 Belleville West here, 4 p.m.
Oct. 3 at Webster* of Collinsville, 7 p.m.

Shutout Eliminates Mercer in Playoffs

It's all over for Quad-City teams in the Southwest Missouri Inter-City Baseball League for 1968.

Mercer (11-6) lost to the East Alton Machinists (12-5) by a 5-0 score at the East Alton diamond yesterday in the opening round of the playoffs. They had finished at the top of the Blue Division standings.

The Red Division champion Molitors of Collinsville (14-3) won over the Polish-American War Veterans of East St. Louis (8-9) by a 12-1 score as Bruce Thompson hurled a one-hitter and struck out 13 in the other playoff contest on Labor Day.

The two division representatives will meet in a best-of-three-game series starting at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Collinsville's Fletcher field.

For Mercer of Granite City, only six men reached base as Jim Blackledge hurled a three-hitter. Maurice Sanderson took the loss, issuing four walks, striking out nine and giving up six hits.

Steve Schardan, Charles Johansson and Greg Wasylak collected singles, Paul Kacera was hit by a pitch and John Corrie and Harold Tankley walked. Wasylak got as far as third base in the seventh inning.

The victory over highly-rated Rushville was achieved by Norm Grote and Dan Endsley doubling and, after the score was tied, Harold Tankley walking and Endsley and Melton singling in the top of the eighth inning. Don Staudt won a six-hitter.

Against Lincoln, Grote and George Sykes each had two hits.

Earlier this year, Credit Union split a doubleheader at Wilson Park against the champion Vandalia team.

Sykes was selected for state all-star squad for his utility role, playing first and third bases and catching for Credit Union.

Grote and Endsley received state honorable mention.

In the first game, hits by Norm Grote, Larry Melton and Bill Evans gave Credit Union a two-run lead in the fifth inning. Chamute tied it in the sixth, but Grote led off the bottom of the seventh with a single and scored on a double by Evans. Jerry Voloski won a

The Granite City park district summer softball program utilized two lighted diamonds for the first time in 1968.

In addition to games played at the regular site in Wilson Park, a full schedule was conducted at Worthen Park, a fenced and brightly lighted field at the eastern extremity of the park district.

The same league structure was used, but the extra diamond enabled a larger number of teams to be accepted. The weekend schedule also was greatly reduced, although many rained-out games had to be set for weekends.

The program was concentrated on slow-pitch softball, in which the ball is arched when pitched, giving the batter a better chance than when hurlers are allowed to throw it across the plate with their full strength. An advantage for fans is that there is more hitting and more scoring.

Many of the teams which competed this season went on to enter the park district's 11th annual Labor Day tournament this weekend.

Granite City, the community which initiated the state slow-pitch softball tournament, now has one of the largest slow-pitch programs in Illinois. It has sent teams to the state tourney in every year on has been conducted.

State Champion Team
The Clark Vikings, who played in the Class A league in the park district program, placed third in the Granite City regional, won the State meet at Caseyville but lost out at midwestern regional play in Sheboygan, Wis.

The program here was divided into nine divisions of competition, Class A, Class B, Class C, 35 and Over, Church League Reds, Church League Blues, Women's, High School Boys and High School Girls leagues.

4 Pass 50-Mile Mark in Jogging at YMCA

Four local YMCA members have completed 50 miles or more in the "run for your life" program begun last April. Forrest Cockrell, "Y" physical director, has reported.

They are among 15 men who "jog" at the "Y" gym at their own pace and convenience.

Roger Boyd, whose home is in Lawrence, Kan., is a senior at the University of Missouri and a first-string tackle on the varsity football team. Summer employment with Laclede Steel Co. brought him here. Besides running, his daily exercises include working with weights.

Appellate Judge George Moran, Attorney William Schooley and Robert Spengler, an insurance agent, started their jogging program in April at a "reasonable pace" and, before long, were jogging as much as two miles a day.

Runners approaching the 50-mile mark include Granite City's Roy Logan and James Henderson.

The running takes place in the YMCA gymnasium, with 24 laps equaling a mile.

Parked Car Struck

An auto owned by Thelma Means, 2009 Beckwith street, parked at Beckwith and McNair, was struck Sunday afternoon by an auto driven by Richard Dooley, 114 Garesche Homes, who told police his auto slid on mud as he was making a left turn.

Miss Johnson Is Bride Of Michael B. Edwards

Candlelight illuminated the sanctuary of Nameoki United Methodist Church Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Joyce Ann Johnson and Michael Bruce Edwards.

The bride is the daughter of Alderman and Mrs. Ford G. Johnson, 2501 Lynch avenue. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Edwards, reside at 818 Third street, Venice.

Rev. William Fester officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with urns of white gladiolus and pinks. Candelighters were Gary Johnson and Michael Johnson, cousins of the bride.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Janet Young, organist, who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. June Branding. Vocal selections included "Because," "With This Ring I Thee Wed" and "The Lord's Prayer."

She chose a full-length pure white imported silk linen wedding gown accented with Venice lace, as was the short Kachucki-shaped sleeves.

Designed on skimmer lines, the hem of the gown was encircled and banded in a double row of lace, which also bordered and detailed the triangular shaped Watteau train of the gown.

Her headpiece was a pillowbox covered with lace flowers that matched the lace of the dress. It secured a short bouffant veil of bridal illusion. Her bouquet was an arrangement of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Sandra Johnson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Judy Edwards, the groom's sister, Mrs. Joyce Kirby and Miss Kathy Weissenborn were bridesmaids.

They wore identical floor-length gowns in mint green linen fashioned with scoop necklines. Directorate waists circled with velvet ribbon and hemline streamers, with set-in short sleeves of multicolored floral embroidery.

Their headpieces were flat bows made from matching velvet ribbon accented the dresses. Each carried a French colonial bouquet of pale pink, dusty rose, maize and purple flowers with green foliage.

Robyn Johnson, sister of the bride, and Kathy Maxwell were flower girls. They wore floor-length frocks similar to the bridesmaids' dresses. Each carried a miniature French colonial bouquet of pale pink, dusty rose, maize and purple flowers with green foliage.

The groom selected Donald Devany as best man, with Gary

MRS. MICHAEL BRUCE EDWARDS, the former Miss Joyce Ann Johnson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford G. Johnson, 2501 Lynch avenue, whose wedding took place Saturday evening, at Nameoki United Methodist Church.

O'Neill, James Ebersold and Richard Eastington as groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Harold Case and John Robertson.

Mrs. Johnson selected for her daughter's wedding a sleeveless A-line dress in icy blue silk shantung with a wide belt in matching fabric and color. Her accessories were in the same shade of blue.

The groom's mother was attired in a mint green sheath dress made of silk shantung. The dress had a stand-up jeweled collar and short jacket. Matching accessories completed her ensemble. Both wore white gardenia corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson entertained wedding guests at a reception held at the Lewis and Clark restaurant in East Alton. Assisting with the reception were Misses Mary Jo Collins, Henrietta Toth and Mrs. Catherine Miller and Mrs. Charles McConnell.

After a wedding trip to Chicago, they will make their home in the Montclair Apartments.

The former Miss Johnson is a graduate of Granite City high school. She is employed as secretary at Granite City Steel Co. in the Systems Department.

Mr. Edwards was graduated from Venice high school and attended Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, where he was a member of the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity. He is presently attending SIU-SW.

Announcement is made of the recent marriage at First United Pentecostal Church of Miss Patricia Frazier, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Frazier, 2135 Dewey avenue, and Richard L. Page of Miracle Valley, Ariz. The ceremony was performed Aug. 25 by the Rev. Kenneth Reeves.

The bridegroom, a vocalist with A. Allen Revivals, Inc., and his wife will leave soon to take part in revival services being conducted throughout the country.

Miss Buron, Michael Lewis Wed in Candlelight Setting

Miss Deborah Jo Buron became the bride of Michael Thomas Lewis, at 7 p.m. Saturday in a candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. David Bruce, Maxton at the First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd street and Delmar avenue. The altar was banked with arrangements of white carnations and palms.

Lighting the candles stationed on both sides of the white carpet aisle, preceding the ceremony, were Joan Harris, Debbie Byers, Debbie Scaturro and Paula Weaver.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert J. Buron, 2101 Richmond avenue. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Lewis, 139 Briarwood lane.

Kenneth MacClatchey presided at the organ and provided the accompaniment for a quartet of girls, Colleen Robertson, Robyn Robertson, Gloria Schiber and Candy Jones as they sang, "With Thee I Go," "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. Buron escorted his daughter down the aisle. She selected a gown of ivory English net, Empire in style and featuring elbow sleeves and a jeweled neckline. The net, appliqued with Alencon lace, lavishly traced in seed pearls and opaque bugle beads, fell freely over the under dress which was of peau de soie.

The scalloped, beaded train formed the back of the dress and fell into a chapel train. A fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place with a beaded lace cap with lace side clusters. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white butterfly roses and lilies of the valley with a background of English ivy.

Miss Leslie Kim Buron, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor with Miss Dawn Helene Zerlan, Miss Kathryn Alexis Glicko, Miss Mary Patricia Lewis, the groom's sister, as bridesmaids.

They were attired alike in floor-length Empire gowns of cinnamon linen, sleeveless and belted in white kid leather.

Their headpieces were clusters of pink Sensation roses and ivy, with white velvet streamers in the back entwined with miniature rose buds to match their cascade bouquets of similar flowers.

The groom chose for his best man, John Thomas Skubish, and groomsmen, Richard Lee Paul, William Allen Evans and Robert Allen Yates. Ushers were Dennis Paul Zerlan and Larry James Curry.

Miss Buron chose for her daughter's wedding a sleeveless A-line dress in pale blue accented with bows on the skirt and shoulders of the bodice. Matching accessories complemented her ensemble.

The bridegroom's mother was in a pink linen sheath dress with an A-line skirt and sleeveless bodice. Her accessories were in the same shade of pink. Both wore purple corsages.

Reception for guests was held immediately following the ceremony at the Stop Light restaurant in East St. Louis. Miss Kathleen Evans Kaseberg presided over the guest book.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will reside in Granite City.

MRS. MICHAEL THOMAS LEWIS, the former Deborah Jo Buron, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert J. Buron, 2101 Richmond avenue. Her wedding was an event of Saturday at First United Presbyterian Church.

Nude Man Startles Woman at Laundromat
Police were notified at 10:15 p.m. Saturday that a nude man was seen at 2300 Illinois avenue. A woman was leaving the laundromat there when she heard someone yell. As she turned around, she saw a man completely unclothed standing by a new sports car.

The nudist jumped into his auto and sped away. Because of darkness, she was unable to get the license number. She said the man was a blonde and was about 20 years old.

MORE ABOUT Parents

administration and the teachers' union are merely sitting in their offices and issuing news releases.

Pickets were placed at the school board office and the city hall and for a short time outside the Labor Temple where the Madison Federation of Teachers has its headquarters.

Some of the signs read:

"Mr. Mayor, it's our city. Please help to get the board and teachers back together."

"School is out but taxes go on."

"Board—you might not want school. Teachers—you might not want school. But we the parents do want school."

"Board and teachers, we do want school Tuesday."

The parents asked Mayor Stephen Maeras to intervene to bring about a quick settlement. They suggested that a public meeting be held at the Memorial center, a neutral ground, as they believe a personality problem among school board members and the teachers' salary committee is preventing an agreement.

Mayor Maeras said that from 12 to 15 teachers have contacted him, complaining that they are not being informed by the union of details of union demands or school board offers and that they want to return to school but are afraid to.

Courses on Commerce Rates, Laws Planned

Courses on rates and tariffs and interstate commerce law will be offered again this fall by Southern Illinois University at East St. Louis high school as part of the university's traffic management program.

Emery R. Castevens, assistant dean of the Division of Technical and Adult Education at SIU-SW, said registration is continuing through Sept. 5. Registrations can be made by telephone to 274-2100 or by appearing in person Sept. 5 at the university center, 10th and Ohio streets, East St. Louis, between 6:30 and 8 p.m.

The rates and tariffs class is scheduled to start Sept. 19, meeting each Thursday for five weeks from 7 to 10 p.m. in Room 132. It will involve a study of the basic structure of tariffs, classification of commodities, rules and regulations, kinds of tariffs and functions of interstate and intrastate regulatory bodies.

The interstate commerce law course gets under way Sept. 17 and continues through Dec. 10, meeting on Tuesdays from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in Room 130. It covers rules and regulations under which carriers engaging in interstate commerce must operate.

Both are non-credit courses that are advisable for persons seeking an associate in business degree in industrial management with a specialization in traffic management. Graduates of this program are eligible to take the Interstate Commerce Commission practitioners examination.

The courses also are advantageous for persons now in transportation in terms of advancement and furthering their knowledge of interstate commerce law, Castevens said.

GC Tax Levy Of $2,164,718 OK'd by Council

Granite City's tax levy ordinance totaling $2,164,718 was approved Thursday night during a recessed meeting of the city council, whose members also approved a four-cent increase in the special tax rate for street purposes. The new street tax rate will be 10 cents per $100 property value.

While the new levy is $2,159 higher than last year's tax levy ordinance total of $1,943,119, there was no inclusion this year of fund balances and anticipated revenue from license fees, fines and other sources. The city ended the past fiscal year with an overall balance of $586,200.

Other income, for example, would include $42,000 from the sale of city auto license stickers. Those funds go to the street department.

Tax Figure to be Set
The recessed session was necessary for adoption of the tax levy ordinance in time to submit it to County Clerk Eulalia Ritz by next Tuesday. Her staff will get the actual figure for the amount to be collected from taxes.

Instead of credits for cash on hand or income from other sources, this year's tax levy ordinance lists the amounts budgeted for the individual departments and operations. There are no levies for the parking meter and sewer treatment plant operations which are self-sustaining.

Comptroller Robert Stevens said the new procedure for setting the tax levy figure was recommended earlier this year by the state revenue department. "We realize, of course, that full levies will not be made in all instances because of tax limitations," the comptroller pointed out.

Levy Breakdown
A breakdown of the 1968 levy, listing the new figure first and last year's amount, follows:

Legislative department, $44,514 and $46,365; executive department, $19,751 and $17,537; finance and administration, $36,361 and $36,169; treasurer's office, $16,921 and $14,330; legal department, $15,730 and $48,481.

City planning, $7302 and $13,775; air pollution controls, $6040 and none; pumping station, $9000 and $5000; contingencies, $25,000 and $5000; city hall, $31,194 and $17,537; maintenance department, $13,337 and $7500.

Elections, $10,000 and $5500; police department, $30,732 and $34,207; inspection department, $30,328 and $18,420; special improvements, $109,490 and none.

Fire hydrant rental, $20,000 and $18,000; street and alley lighting, $50,000 and $24,000; insurance and judgments, $88,072 and $58,000; Illinois Municipal Retirement, $50,900 and $45,000; firemen pensions, $75,000 and $55,000; policemen pensions, $55,000 and same.

Fire department, $342,568 and $248,000; street department, $276,580 and $33,000; public library, $146,733 and $130,693; maintenance of sewers, $75,000 and $25,000; civil defense, $13,330 and $10,000; school crossing guards, $23,000 and $1000; independent audit, $2500 and none.

Fourteen aldermen were present before the recessed session. Absent were Aldermen Nann and Johnson. Voting for the levy ordinance were: Dal-Bartosiak, Wittermer, Boyd, Poulos, Green, Rutledge, Basarich, Fry, Parmlay, Jarrett, Robertson and Dawes. The lone "no" vote was by Alderman Moerlein.

GC Tax Collection Hits 93 1/4% Mark--$7,031,904

Granite City taxpayers paid a total of $7,031,904 in taxes, or 93.28% of the extension of $7,538,267, E. R. "Pat" Rich, city tax collector, reported Friday upon completion of his tally.

The amount exceeded his expectations as he hoped that the total would reach 95%, especially as payments were lagging until the final week before the Aug. 23 deadline.

The collection included $3,963,684 in real estate taxes and $3,068,220 in personal property taxes. At the rate of two percent, the city retains a fee of $140,639.

Last year a total of $6,671,367 of an extension of $7,272,785 was paid in the city, less than 93%.

"When we first started, we expected to collect 92%," Rich said. "But in the final week taxpayers were fogging the mail in and were coming to the office personally to pay the bills."

We did as much in the last week as in the previous four or five weeks."

Rich agreed that informational picketing at the city hall by police and firemen in support of the contract and salary requests caused many persons not wishing to cross the lines to delay their payments.

"Many called us and we suggested that they mail their payments, with receipts to be returned by mail," the collector said. "The mail was heavy in the final week."

Those who have not paid their taxes locally before the deadline may do so at the office of the Madison county treasurer in the courthouse at Edwardsville.

Sharon Šucich, Terry Keeton Exchange Vows

Miss Sharon Kay Šucich, 1108 Greenwood street, Madison, became the bride of Terry D. Keeton, 2611 West 22nd street, Saturday morning at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Madison.

Rev. Sylvester Micek officiated at the 10 o'clock double-ring ceremony. Mrs. George McGarrhan was organist and Mrs. Eleanor Tutka sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day."

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Šucich of Madison and Mr. and Mrs. Riley Keeton of Granite City.

White gladiolus and mums decorated the church altar.

Mr. Šucich escorted his daughter down the white-carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She was attired in a pure white imported silk organza gown, designed with a scoop neckline, Empire bodice, accented with a bow, and an A-line skirt.

Mottos of lace embroidered in gleaming iridescent sequins and pearls were appliqued on the bodice and skirt and detailed on the short sleeves. The detachable court train was secured at the neckline.

A cluster of petals of organza and pearls worn forward highlighted her short bouffant veil of illusion.

Gardenias and white roses made up the bride's cascade bouquet.

Miss Jackie Dennison was maid of honor and Miss Donna S. Richman was bridesmaid.

The honor attendant wore a solid color spring rose dress fashioned with a high bodice of Venice lace in a daisy pattern, a scoop neckline and short sleeves. A Watteau back panel fell from the shoulder to the hemline of the long karate fabric skirt.

Miss Richman was dressed in two-toned spring rose, wearing a dress identical in design to that of the maid of honor. They were matching headpieces with tiny veils.

Cascade bouquets of red, pink and white roses were carried.

Larry Keeton, brother of the groom, attended him as best man, with Randy Šucich, the bride's brother, as groomsmen, and Gary Michael Wasyiak and Gregory Wasyiak seated the guests.

The bride's mother was in a powder blue crepe dress with matching jacket. Lace and pearls enhanced the high collar neckline and the edges of the three-quarter-length sleeves. Blue and white accessories were worn.

Mrs. Keeton, mother of the groom, chose a pale baby pink A-line dress of lace over satin, with a scoop neckline dress and a small ruffle at the edge of the long lace sleeves. She wore matching accessories.

Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

A reception was held at the Rose Bowl restaurant, Granite City.

The former Miss Šucich, a graduate of Madison high school, is employed as a secretary at the International Shoe Co.

The groom, a graduate of Granite City high school, served two years in the Army and is now employed by Combustion Engineering Co. in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Keeton will honeymoon at the Lake of the Ozarks and, upon their return, will reside in Granite City.

MRS. RICHARD G. MCINTOSH, the former Tina Kozlowski, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kozlowski, 1018 Alton avenue, who was married Friday at St. Mark's Catholic Church in Venice.

McIntosh and Kozlowski Nuptials at St. Mark's

Among the many late summer weddings taking place over the holiday weekend was that of Miss Tina Kozlowski, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kozlowski, 1018 Alton avenue, Madison, and Richard G. McIntosh, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. McIntosh, 208 Broadway, Venice, Friday evening at St. Mark's Catholic Church in Venice.

After the 7 o'clock ceremony performed by the Rev. Terry Shea, a reception was held in the church basement. The double-ring service was used.

Miss Phyllis Wallace presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Miss Phyllis DeSalvo, as she sang "Ave Maria," "Mother at the Feet" and "Wedding Prayer."

A gown of white silk organza was worn by the bride. Fashioned with a scoop neckline and long tapered sleeves, the straight skirt was richly trimmed with cascading rows of Alencon lace and sequin motifs from the neckline to the bottom of the floor-length skirt.

A Watteau train fell from the shoulders in a full sweep of organza trimmed with panels of lace and sequins. A jeweled tiara and pearls held in place a tiered veil of illusion.

White carnations, stephanotis and ivy were combined in the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Anthony Evanoff, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and Miss Cindy Bosworth and Miss Barbara Kuiz served as bridesmaids.

They were dressed alike in floor-length gowns of petal pink. High rise bodices had scoop necklines and short sleeves. Lace formed the puffed bodices down the back to the hemlines of the long slender skirts and they wore headpieces of pink with tiny veils. Their flowers were white carnations tipped with pink.

John Levy was best man, and Bob and Tom McIntosh, brothers of the bridegroom, Michael Kozlowski, a brother of the bride, and Kirk Reidelberger, the bridegroom's cousin, were groomsmen and ushers.

The bride's mother chose a dress of aqua nylon and lace, while the bridegroom's mother appeared in aqua silk.

Matching accessories and white orchid corsages were worn by both mothers.

After a wedding trip, the couple will reside in Venice. The bride, who is employed in St. Louis, is a graduate of Madison high school. Mr. McIntosh, a graduate of the Venice school, is employed as a chauffeur.

Miss Teresa Reidelberger assisted at the reception. A rehearsal dinner was given Thursday evening by the bridegroom's parents.

Justice-Bain Nuptials

Mrs. Sandra K. Bain, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale F. Woodson, Rural Route Two, and Alfred R. Justice, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Durrell Justice, 30 Briarcliff, were married Friday evening at St. John United Church of Christ on Nameoki road.

The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. Paul Surbey and a reception was held afterward at the American Legion Hall.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a green peau de sole dress with an overlay of lace and a green bow and veil headpiece. She carried an orchid corsage on a white Bible.

Miss Sheila Gibbs and David Order were the only attendants. Miss Gibbs was in yellow chiffon with a bouquet of yellow carnations and ivy.

The bride and groom are graduates of Granite City high school. They will reside at 4276 Highway 162.

Of interest here was the wedding Friday evening at Trinity Lutheran Church in East St. Louis of Miss Jo Ann Gwin, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Gwin, 2853 Adams street, and Harold L. Roberts, a son of Mrs. Virginia Roberts, 1511 North 54th street, East St. Louis.

The Rev. Edward Schmidt performed the 6:30 ceremony and a reception was held afterward at the church annex.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace designed with a scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The "A" line skirt, trimmed in front, with beaded lace, swept into a full matching lace motifs. A forward headpiece of roses secured a bouffant veil of imported illusion, and the bridal bouquet was formed of a cluster of white carnations centered with peach-colored rosebuds.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Donna Embrey, and bridesmaid, Miss Mary Szazani, wore identical gowns of moss green saki linen, the bodices styled with deep scooped necklines and elbow sleeves. The slim skirts had back Watteau panels trimmed with self buttons, and floral headpieces were of matching green with maline veils attached. Their flowers were peach rosebuds, similar to those of the bride's bouquet.

William Walker was best man, and Robert Szazani, John Ford, and Dale Frederick served as groomsmen and ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gwin wore a dress of turquoise, while the bridegroom's mother chose a pale pink dress. Both wore matching accessories and corsages of white carnations.

The former Miss Gwin was graduated from Granite City high school and prior to her wedding was employed in the office of the circuit clerk in Edwardsville. A graduate of the East St. Louis schools, Mr. Roberts was graduated from Oklahoma State University of Technology and is now employed as a research engineer in Bridgeton, Mo.

Future of Death Penalty in This State Clouded by Court Decision

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

What is the future of the death penalty in Illinois?

A measure which would have repealed capital punishment for a trial period of six years from 1967 to 1973 was defeated in the state legislature last year. The proposal, House Bill No. 157, failed to get out of the House.

While those who would abolish capital punishment received a setback in the legislature, they may have received a boost from the U. S. Supreme Court. The high court recently held that it is unconstitutional to exclude from juries in capital cases those who object to capital punishment.

Historically, Illinois—and all but two other states—automatically excluded from jury service in capital cases anyone who admitted bias against the death penalty.

This was done on the ground that objectors would be unable to render a fair and impartial verdict "in accordance with the law and the evidence," as the law requires.

It was an Illinois case—the conviction and death sentence of William C. Witherspoon for the slaying of a Chicago police officer—that brought the Supreme Court's ruling.

The court did not overrule

Witherspoon's conviction. But its decision may mean that he will receive a new trial.

Since the ruling in June, another Chicagoan, Charles Clark, has been convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of an off-duty patrolman. His jury was picked prior to the high court's decision, and some prospective jurors were challenged and dismissed because of their scruples against the death penalty.

In the Witherspoon case, five Supreme Court justices joined in the majority opinion that selection of only those who were not opposed to the death penalty, or who were "neutral" on the question, to serve as jurors had "stacked the deck" against the defendant.

In a strong dissent, the minority opinion maintained that the court was making it impossible to enforce the death penalty.

Illinois provides the death penalty for murder, aggravated kidnapping and treason.

In any event, the ruling gave Witherspoon and a dozen or more other prisoners on death row in Illinois a new lease on life. Some say that James Dukes, who was electrocuted in August 1964, could go down in history as the last person to be executed in Illinois.

After the Nehru-The Gurus, Purses, Ruffles and Jewelry, It Says Here

(By Southern Illinois University)

Are men, long-imprisoned in neck-choking collars and ties for dress wear, at last breaking their bonds and going into a new fashion cycle?

An SIU fashion specialist, Thelma Berry, thinks a new era may be just around the corner, depending on what the new-fangled hippies really "catch on" with the adult male.

She cited the turkulent, worn with a medallion and some formal as well as informal occasions, as the first breakthrough.

Then came the Nehru jacket, with low standing collar. Now comes the "guru" shirt, like-wise with a slit collar, which has a loose body and loose sleeve and may show up in a stripe or a paisley print.

Unconventional colors, too, are becoming more pronounced, including purples and shades of red, greens, yellows and others formerly shunned by the conventional male. Paisley patterned fabrics are seen in dinner suits as well as sports jackets.

Even hand-bags for men, sometimes called man-bags, are coming into the picture, she said, as designers seek to eliminate the bulges from pockets long stuffed with wallets and other accoutrements.

One new trend in shirts is the collar boasting 4 1/2-inch points, she reported. Some shirts have bar pin and no tie. Some shirts feature ruffles at wrist or neck.

Another notable note is the return to the double-breasted suit but this season the emphasis is on four sets of buttons, top set decorated. Lapels also are wider.

"Men may need adornment too," Mrs. Berry declared. "Neither function nor custom explains the use of a collar bar in place of the customary necktie and neither explains the sudden emergence of necklaces, chains and medallions. So perhaps these trinkets fulfill a need."

"At first the fad was for 'junk' or 'costume' jewelry, but now the most expensive men's shops are showing costly pieces that may be classed as 'real' jewelry."

In any event, she said, "It is high time for more comfortable, more eye-appealing garments to be developed for men, and the time may be now."

Limitations of Primary Sewage Treatment Process Described

(Illinois Committee for Pure Air and Water)

The Sanitary Water Board Act provides that no wastes be discharged into any waters of Illinois without first being given the degree of treatment necessary to prevent water pollution.

Communities in the state thus treat sewage in a variety of ways. Over 600 incorporated communities—in spite of the law—continue to operate without any sanitary sewer systems because they have been unable to finance costly sewage treatment plants.

While such communities do generally have home septic tank systems, these are usually highly inadequate. As a result, much untreated or "raw" sewage from these towns is dumped into Illinois streams.

Insufficient Methods
Other communities rely on sewage treatment methods which are insufficient to handle the wastes of a growing population.

Primary treatment, for example, even at required efficiency levels, will reduce suspended solids by only 50%. Unless further treatment is carried out, the other half of the solid waste will pass into our streams.

Primary treatment of sewage involves screening devices and settling tanks which remove some floating debris and solid matter that will settle out. Raw sewage may be pre-treated or agitated mechanically to induce settling.

Primary treatment does reduce the amount of suspended solids in the water, but it is rather ineffective as a means for treating dissolved organic materials. Thus, many types of waste products that are often passed through municipal sewage plants are not purified by primary treatment.

Avoids Sludge Banks
This primary method does have some aesthetic value in that it reduces the amount of material that would otherwise form sludge banks and cause an unsightly appearance in the stream, but its major value is that it prepares sewage for further treatment.

If sewage receives only primary treatment, it will still contain dissolved nutrients and some solid matter as well.

Convention Nominated Good Men But Its Procedures Blemished Illinois, Nation

Now that both major parties have nominated intelligent, experienced and highly capable men for the top national offices, the conventions will recede somewhat in memory and importance, and major attention will focus on the campaigning leading up to the Nov. 5 balloting.

But the conventions and their barbed wire, massive security forces, bloodshed and undoubtedly will play a part in voters' decisions. Neither party was immune from such problems this year, but the extreme degree of disorder in Chicago may hurt the Democratic ticket's chances, even though Vice President Humphrey was not responsible for it.

We suspect that, at least symbolically, Mayor Daley and Congressman Albert, the convention chairman, will be among the biggest burdens that must be borne by the Democratic but with friends like them the "veep" doesn't need any enemies.

Our thoughts about the Chicago mayor do not dwell on his desire to have the convention held in his city, nor on his assembly of police, tear gas, guards, night sticks, guns and troops.

As the convention capital of the world, this state's biggest city was a natural choice as the site; he can hardly be blamed for seeking the business for hotels and restaurants, even though foresight as well as hindsight hinted that 1968 might not be the right year for selecting Chicago. And advance information about plans to assassinate leading candidates and officials left no alternative to maximum defense preparations.

Where the Illinois political boss and the Congressional establishment let their party decide in their heavy-handed handling of the convention proceedings from the rostrum and the nearby host delegation.

A delegate favoring one of the other candidates couldn't obtain an adjournment, but Mayor Daley could. It was the mayor who called for unfriendly galleries to be cleared, galleries which the next day were filled with Daley partisans wearing questionable convention credentials.

Microphones worked, or were turned off, based on what a delegation chairman wanted to say on his right to say it, with the host mayor giving conspicuous "cut" signals from the floor. An opportunity for a vice-presidential debate could be briefly nominated, but no second speeches could be presented. Spontaneous responses by delegates, such as to the Robert Kennedy memorial film, were cut off with the aid of musicians and the gallery.

Any politician has to be a showman to some extent, but Daley made his presence felt far beyond what was appropriate, even showing up in one of the television booths for a lengthy interview—an inter-emption not permitted by any other person. It was always the delegation chairman who spoke for Illinois, never an acting chairman. Usually precise in pronouncing words, he referred to local delegate Mudgie as "Snudge."

Coupled with the extremely rough handling of newsmen, photographers and delegates, and scenes in which officers not merely subdued, but dealt repeated blows to insurrectionists, an image of excessive political and physical muscle came through clearly.

Even allowing for distortion and bias—they didn't have to show a barbed-wire-aroused flag while the Missouri governor's wife was singing the national anthem—the overall impression was valid enough and damaging enough that it will blemish for some time to come this state and its politics and this nation and its politics.

The world might get better results if diplomats were paid on a peace-work basis.

CONVENTION A DISGRACE: WILL DAMAGE THE PARTY

To the Editor:

Since the age of 21 I have followed the procedure of many party conventions, both Republican and Democratic, but never have I seen a national disgrace like the 1968 convention held in Chicago.

The tactics of Richard Daley have crucified the entire Democratic party, from the city level up to the national level.

By the use of his forces, Daley has abused delegates and reporters and clubbed innocent bystanders to the point of destruction of the Democratic party's early experiences of many foreign party, Democrats and lifelong independent voters will fall away from the Democratic party.

Inability to Teach 12 Months a Factor In Yearly Take-Home-Pay of Instructors

Laymen find it hard to evaluate the soundness of opposing positions in the Madison school salary dispute, but one yardstick is a new federal decision to increase to $705 the monthly pay of young lawyers entering its employ. This starting salary is attained by not only completing college but also graduating from law school.

Striking teachers received a minimum of $655 a month for nine months last year. They have been offered a base figure of $688 for this year and have asked for $777. Those with experience or with training beyond a bachelor degree received up to $1094 last year; they have been offered up to $1166 and seek $1355. Precise amounts vary from year to year and from degree to degree between the minimum and maximum amounts.

The fact that teachers work and are paid only nine months a year does not eliminate the necessity for them to eat and live 12 months a year, coffee and all.

Some use the summer for part-time work in the schools, for full-time work in other occupations, for study, for travel, or for leisure. Surely, many of them would like to have the opportunity to work the year-around in the profession, which they have chosen and for which they have been trained—teaching.

All of which unavoidably focuses thought on the advantages of year-around school operation. In addition to raises to keep pace with inflation, faculty members could be raised 35% without any extra cost to a school of taxpayers, through being utilized, like other occupations, 12 months instead of nine. And this would go a long way toward ending the shortage of instructors.

The whole subject of more effective utilization of school facilities and personnel deserves the spotlight that it is now beginning to receive.

Granite City Not One of 72 'Model Cities' But Could Qualify for Much Federal Tax Aid

Almost every week, there are new developments as St. Louis and East St. Louis pave the way for vast new federal spending under the "model cities" program. Planning and supplemental funds in excess of $1 million currently are being awaited in East St. Louis; St. Louis has just approved a comprehensive neighborhood development plan.

As two of 72 municipalities singled out by the U. S. Department of Housing & Urban Development, they undoubtedly will outdistance through being utilized, like other occupations, 12 months instead of nine. And this would go a long way toward ending the shortage of instructors.

Granite City will not outdo these cities, nor should it; its problems are not as great in scope. But its serious shortcomings will not disappear just by being ignored, and it is a shame that council inaction currently is blocking this municipality from getting its foot in the door for at least some funds to match local expenditures for new facilities, streets and parking.

The renewal plan developed through considerable time and effort by large numbers of Granite Cityans would complement the current St. Elizabeth Hospital modernization-expansion and also would solve some of the downtown business district's needs—traffic, parking and development of new commercial services.

Everything is in readiness. A simple affirmative vote is all that is needed. But as time passes, more and more local credits—credits hard-earned through residents, organizations and firms digging deep into their pockets—are lapsing.

When will Granite City aldermen act?

Illinois Recognizing Recreation, Education, Drainage Needs in Area

State officials last week shed the first rays of light visible for a long time on several issues vital to this region.

The Conservation Department now sees the value of establishing recreation facilities at Horseshoe Lake, although it has not yet fully endorsed the lengthy efforts to have it designated as a state park and wildlife refuge.

The Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction is preparing a plan for state-financed pilot programs under which staggered quarterly schedules and other methods of more fully utilizing school buildings, equipment and staffs are to be tested. Use of a multiplier to equalize state aid for year-around use of schools also is under study.

And five Illinois state departments are reviewing ways in which the state could assume the local-level sponsorship for hillside drainage control, qualifying for massive federal tax aid and avoiding a new property tax burden.

It was a good week. We hope such planning will continue and intensify, enabling words to be turned into deeds in the near future.

Illinois in 1818—Weekly Horseshoe Lake Outings of Long Ago Recalled

(From the Files of the Granite City Press-Record)

One of the most nostalgic recollections in the minds of "old timers" in the Quad-Cities is the memory of spring, summer and fall weekends spent at Horseshoe Lake.

"Yellow hammer" street cars provided transportation, and many was the time that virtually every window of the car had a fishing pole projecting from it.

The lake, which contained an ample supply of water, was a mecca for fishermen, picnic parties and duck hunters.

Picknickers ate chicken and fish, fried golden crisp, and washed them down with mugs of foaming beer.

Boat races, boat rides and swimming were enjoyed.

Most popular resorts were Stemmer's Grove, on this side of Horseshoe Lake, and Moellenbrock's Grove, on the opposite shore.

The parade of wagons headed for the lake began each Saturday.

Steelworkers ending their shifts found the throng at 7 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Then, on Sundays, many St. Louisans crossed the river on the ferry and jammed the lake's picnic grounds.

Long Lake Park and Ponton Beach were established later and drew crowds from a wide area of Illinois and Missouri.

25 YEARS AGO

SEPTEMBER 3, 1943

When a realtor turns down rent, that's news.

A young Army officer stationed at the Granite City Engineer Depot, unable to find a place to live for himself, his wife and six-month-old baby, appealed to J. W. Seneff, 2824 Grand avenue, to let him stay in a rooming house on an adjoining lot. The lot is shaded by trees and has a well-kept lawn, the result of many hours of work by Seneff.

The Seneffs agreed that they could move in without charge, but neighbors objected to the trailer and threatened action. But concluding that "this is war, and we must do our part," the Seneffs then welcomed the family into their home, daughter Joann giving up her room to them. "It's little enough for us to do when boys in uniform are offering their lives," the local residents explained.

The Citizens Service Corps in Madison is ready to launch a war bond sales campaign. Nearly all district captains and secretaries attended an initial meeting on the Sept. 9 house-to-house drive.

50 YEARS AGO

SEPTEMBER 3, 1918

Labor Day was ushered in yesterday with pouring rain and leaden skies, but the weather failed to dampen the ardor and enthusiasm of the local members of organized labor. They went right on and carried out their plans for the parade in spite of the rain.

While it is possible that the parade would have been larger by several thousand if the weather had been favorable, nearly every local union had a 100% turnout. And the colors ran in every direction until some of the girls were decorated with all the colors of the rainbow.

Red Cross and Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts and other patriotic organizations had excellent turnout and marched to the end of the line. The rain and poor car service, however, kept many away from the picnic and celebration at Stemmer's Place, Horseshoe Lake.

Service cars and trucks made up for the lack of street cars and after the skies cleared in the evening, a fair-sized crowd turned out for an enjoyable evening.

The grounds were too wet to hold the athletic events, so the committee has arranged to hold the picnic again next Sunday, when youngsters and grownups will have a chance to compete for prizes in the various events on the program.

3 Boys, 13, Admit Ransacking School

Three juvenile boys admitted to Venice police Sunday morning that they had entered and ransacked Blair school after smashing a door glass. The boys, all 13, also said they had shot out several other door glasses and windows with an air rifle.

Officers were notified about 1 a.m. Sunday that the school had been entered and recalled that about 12:30 a.m. they had spotted a boy they knew running from the vicinity of the school. They picked him up for questioning, and other youths were involved. Several pens and other items were recovered at the home of one of the boys.
